

SUNSET CRUISE

- Clients arrive at the La Marina jetty to board the Dhows by approximately 1730hrs.
- The evening would begin with a leisurely sail into the inland waterways of Mtwapa Creek on a traditional Arab Dhow to experience the sun going down over the African wilderness. The cooking fires of the local villages scent the air with giant Baobab trees making superb sunset photograph opportunities.
- Relax to soothing entertainment and take in the breath taking tropical scenery.
- As night approaches, the stars begin to shine and the Dhows join together. The torches are lit and the beat of cow hide drums set the scene for a spectacular Limbo and Acrobatic display followed by an authentic African fashion show.
- With the night now set in, 18 Masai warriors bearing flaming torches, line the shore chanting their welcome ritual for the arrival back at the Aquamarine Restaurant.
- As the guests make their way ashore into the candlelit, open air palm tree terrace, the lights come on and a choice of any of the following menus begins:
